FOREWORD

What is a yearbook?

Our Maroon and Gold is the record of the accumulated memories of our year at Wardlaw, made up of successes and failures, work and play, achievements and dreams.

Who prepares it?

It is the combined effort of many: planners with vision, artists with imagination, photographers with precision, writers with creativeness, and advisors with patience and helpfulness.

Who makes its publication possible?

We can undertake this costly project only with the help of those interested parents and friends, who are our patrons, and the advertisers, who respond to our repeated solicitation.

DEDICATED TO MRS. JANE FOSTER SMITH

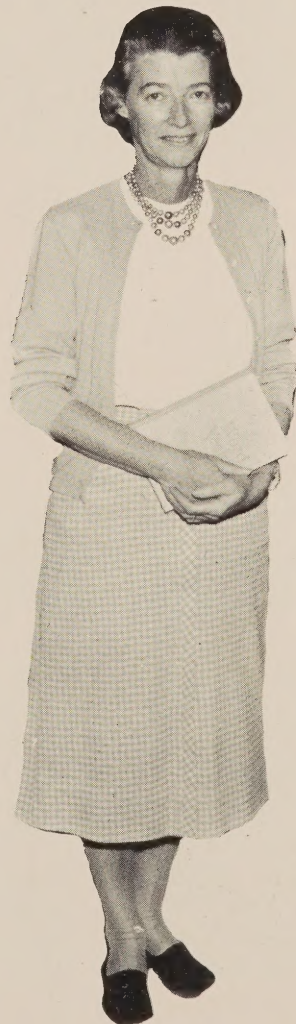

The editorial board of the Maroon and Gold is proud to dedicate the 1962 yearbook to Mrs. Jane Foster Smith.

It is often stated that a man's success in life is measured by his ability to express himself. In our opinion, Mrs. Smith, so talented in this respect, is doing outstanding work in preparing her students for their future careers.

A Bucknell University language major, Mrs. Smith has an enriched background in education. This year she initiated and is instructing a class in journalistic writing, teaches junior and senior English, and is an invaluable advisor to the Beacon as well as the Maroon and Gold. It was Wardlaw's good fortune to be able to add Mrs. Smith to its faculty when she decided to return to active teaching in 1944.

She is ever-helpful, hard-working, and patient. Her lively sense of humor vitalizes any routine classroom drill.

It is with much affection and respect that we honor Mrs. Smith.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

One of the important factors in the successful operation of the Wardlaw Country Day School is the leadership provided by the Board of Trustees. They have, in three years, endeavored to expand the physical plant and to provide for the enrichment of the educational facilities. The trustees are mindful of the ever-increasing demand of higher standards in a college preparatory school.

These fifteen men give a great deal of their time and thought to ways and means of creating an even better Wardlaw in future years.

HEADMASTER

With myriad tasks to perform each day, our headmaster, Mr. Prentice C. Horne goes about his way, unruffled, and seems to "create" time for his many daily interviews and conferences.

He imparts to students and teachers alike, his own fine sense of the need and the desirability of fairness and patience in dealing with people and circumstances. Mr. Horne respects the dignity of personal opinion, will hear you out, and will make constructive suggestions when they are necessary.

Throughout his three years as headmaster, he has given wise direction to the Wardlaw Country Day School, during a period of monumental growth in all areas of the school. His greatest gratification, however, is the increased enthusiasm and seriousness with which students approach their work.

Those who will be graduated this year will find him an interested friend upon their visits to Wardlaw. The students who are entering or moving up will continue to benefit by Mr. Horne's kindly guidance.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The year 1962 marked the twenty-ninth anniversary of the Mothers' Association, a group which has served continuously since the school moved from Park Avenue to its present location.

During these years, the mothers' group has become an integral part of school life, serving as official hostesses at school functions, aiding in athletic team transportation, and operating a store stocked with athletic and other necessary school equipment. Additional functions are: assisting faculty and students at holiday and graduation dances, parties, and receptions, organizing the annual Field Day, and making an annual gift to the school by raising funds through a benefit bridge.

Innovations during the past year include instituting a fall and spring campus clean-up and preparing a step-by-step plan for improving the campus during the next few years, organizing and re-furnishing the library and providing many new volumes through the Charles Digby Wardlaw Memorial Fund, set up by the Mothers' Association in 1960-61, and holding a holiday exchange sale for the convenience of mothers and the enhancement of the club treasury.

Though you may not be large in number, you however, leave your mark as the class of 1962 in Wardlaw memorabilia. Time may dim many of the episodes that now seem vital in your recollection of this school year and anguished moments become trivial in retrospect. Nevertheless, each of you unavoidably leaves something of yourself behind as you go on to new areas of conquest and experience.

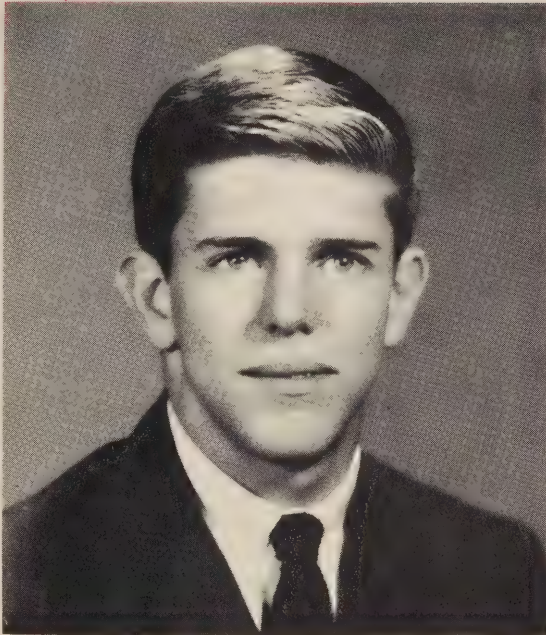

By the same token, as you leave something of yourself behind, so you also take with you knowledge and insight into a way of life which should reflect the highest standards of responsibility to your self as well as to the community of which you are a part.

May each of you profit from the experiences you have gained here and may you in turn reflect on those of us who remain to carry on, as well as to your classmates, a record which will do credit to us all.

JUNIOR CLASS

The junior class, consisting of twenty-three students, will be the largest graduating in the history of the Wardlaw School. For a group so large and with so many bright prospects for future success, the men of 1963 have a great responsibility ahead.

This year the juniors were one of the most active classes in the school. They had a large representation on the staffs of both publications, the Maroon and Gold and the Beacon. Each issue of the newspaper had a junior as the editor. There was participation also in the Glee Club and the art classes.

The men of 1963 make up a large portion of the school's better athletes. The class walked off the athletic fields with proportionately more letters than any other class.

Not to be surpassed scholastically, the juniors have a number of outstanding students and have elected four members to the student council.

The large participation of the juniors in the school dances demonstrated their desire to be active in all phases of school life. They have organized an investment club and a junior social room.

What will they accomplish as seniors? How will they do in college? Where will they be in later life? These questions will be answered with overtones of success if the juniors live up to their potential.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

This year's sophomore class shares with the freshmen the distinction of having the largest enrollment in the high school, each having twenty-five students. The tenth year pupils come from ten surrounding communities, including the farthest point, Perth Amboy, as well as from Metuchen, Bound Brook, Westfield, South Plainfield, Scotch Plains, Colonia, Cranford, Summit, and, of course, Plainfield.

The sophomore class has been represented on many varsity and junior varsity teams and boasts some of the finest performers in the school. Bill Philpot was the top man in the physical fitness program, while Doug Hellerson is one of the best high school swimmers in the state. Bill Pratt in basketball and Bill Ainslie in soccer also share athletic honors.

Because of their active interest in school affairs, the sophomores have won several awards for their parents' attendance at school functions. As a result they have devoured many pieces of pie offered as prizes by the Mothers' Association. The school dances are always well attended by the 10th graders. The class is also well-represented on the Student Council by Bill Ainslie, Nick Fischer and Bill Storts. Publication workers and writers include Jim Weigel and Doug Critchell, while much of the art work for the yearbook was handled by Rick Detwiller and John Corson. John Crockett and Steven Schuldenfrei have helped with photography.

On the scholastic side the class of '64 has its share of honor roll students, including Wade Collier, Bill Ainslie and Donald O'Hare. The class is indeed a group of individualists. They are original and think for themselves. In this their second year in the upper school they are beginning to form better study habits and are realizing the importance of preparing for college.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The class of 1965 ranks among Wardlaw's most active. This fall the yearlings were joined by nine boys, two of them joining in the middle of the year. These newcomers brought the number up to twenty-five and set the stage for one of the most interesting classes at Wardlaw.

The freshman year being the introductory year of high school life, new worlds of thought and enjoyment were introduced to the boys. Incredible as it may have seemed to class members a year ago, they learned to appreciate such classics as "The Ancient Mariner" and "David Copperfield". The strange and mysterious equations and formulas were revealed with varying acceptance in Algebra I. Oral gymnastics in the forms of Latin, Spanish, or French plagued the class of 1965 but nevertheless, resulted in the learning of the rudiments of a foreign tongue. The fabled Hoffman-history classes turned out to resemble the Inquisition less than they resembled the Reformation. This experience was the first lecture-style teaching they had met.

The total academic effort of the freshman class has earned it a fine honor roll representation.

However, a recounting of the scholastic endeavors of the year does not paint a full picture of the freshman class. The group was athletically inclined, its members often starring in their respective sports. Many of the boys joined a hockey team at the Ice Palace and practiced regularly. In January they were challenged by the junior class, whom they trounced in a highly amusing off-campus contest.

Wardlaw is proud of this class which has school spirit and initiative.

This is a STERN matter.

CURRICULUM

Education is the familiarization with the fact that there is far more to be known than can be learned, and that anything once learned only proves to the wise one that he knows nothing.

Dr. R. Allison Lukert

"Now besides IVANHOE, we have....."

ENGLISH

Many tongues are spoken here at Wardlaw, but the language stressed in our curriculum today is our own. With the greater influx of college applications, it is more important than ever that we should be able to comprehend and communicate well in our own language. Organization and clarity of expression are prime goals of the English department. Varied and substantial reading material is suggested and offered to give the student a broader view of the literary world. Vocabulary is considered so important as to be taught by every known method; texts, wide reading, etymology, and drill. All teachers urge their students to read intelligently and reflectively. The student is encouraged to express himself clearly, coherently, and with a reasonably pleasing style.

Perhaps the most important "by-product" of English at all levels is learning how to study. Unfortunately, not enough boys develop good study habits early. However, the methods learned in the English department usually carry over to other subjects.

Laws die; books never.

Taking inventory

A Spanish newspaper is born.

HISTORY

History has become one of the most provocative studies at Wardlaw. The complete course extends over three years, covering the history of civilization. The ancient history course consists of a year of the history of civilization up to and including the reformation. U.S. History I continues the previous course from the Reformation to the era of Napoleon I. U.S. History II is the final stage and carries all the way up to and including contemporary civilization. This third course includes the reading of several books of current social significance, such as: The Organization Man by W. Whyte Jr. and The Lonely Crowd by D. Reisman.

Ancient history study is presented by a combination of lectures, written reports, and textbook study. U.S. History I is basically a lecture class with assigned papers on subjects concerning the lectures and supplementing the history texts. U.S. History II is actually two years of history combined into one. It is a history course which covers from the Napoleonic period to the present day. The class also deals with subjects of American democracy.

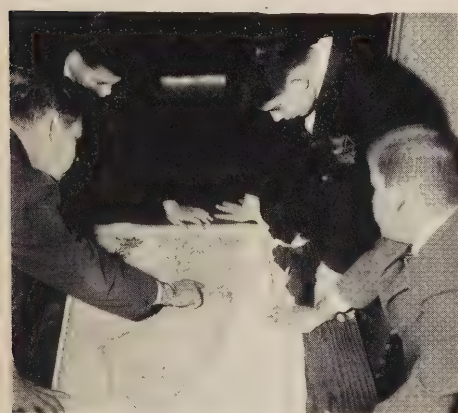

The most memorable part of the courses is Mr. Hoffman's reports, which offer students experience in the fundamentals of research.

LANGUAGES

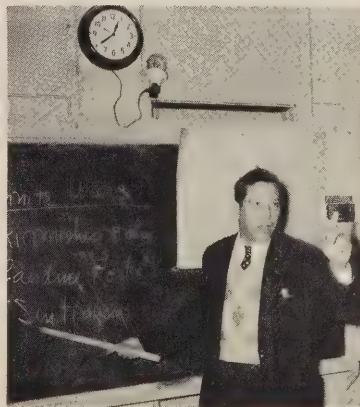

The importance and pleasure of foreign language study, be it French, Spanish, or Latin, is stressed here at Wardlaw. All students entering the eighth grade are required to take either introductory French or Spanish. In the upper school a student may also elect Latin as an alternate language.

The emphasis on language comprehension this year, is through the reading of the literature of the country and experiencing the artistry of deMaupassant, Joseph Kessel, Julio Camba, and Armando Palacio Valdes, and fighting the battles of the Gallic Wars with Julius Caesar. Corresponding with this idea, the members, of the French classes have been writing to French pen pals and are now anticipating a trip to Europe during the summer.

Foreign language experience is essential in this complex society of today. Since the misunderstanding among nations is due, in part, to improper communication, this language curriculum is designed to enable the student attain a reasonable degree of fluency in a new tongue so that he can face new "worlds" with confidence.

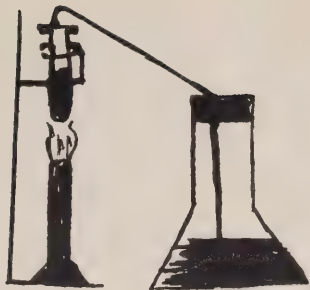

If we hit the bank here.....

Now if I'm wrong...

Troubadour par excellence.

SCIENCE

Today the world is faced by many pressing problems. Science is one of the most important keys in solving these puzzles. It is up to our schools to provide the necessary facilities and instruction for courses in science.

Wardlaw students first experience science courses when they enter the eighth grade. General science gives a diversified study in the branches of science.

As the students approach their senior year, they receive a more detailed study in the fields of chemistry, biology, and physics. With the aid of laboratory demonstrations and experiments, which are supplemented by lectures, the individual gains a working knowledge of the subject.

Wardlaw will give us the tools and the training; it is up to us to learn the proper use of them, and with this knowledge of science, present and future generations will be able to create a better world for all. It is to be hoped that some small group of representatives of Wardlaw students are counted among this number of future chemists, doctors, and engineers.

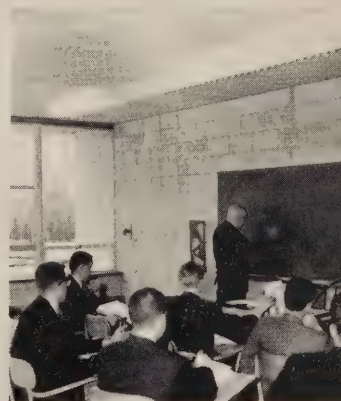

Everything hangs in the balance.

Wait 'til the government hears about this!

The hip bone's connected to . . .

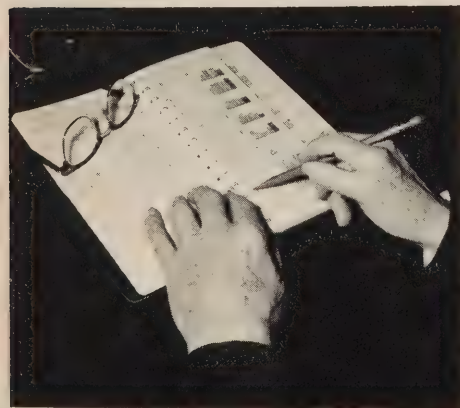

Graduates of the Fox-Hole.

MATHEMATICS

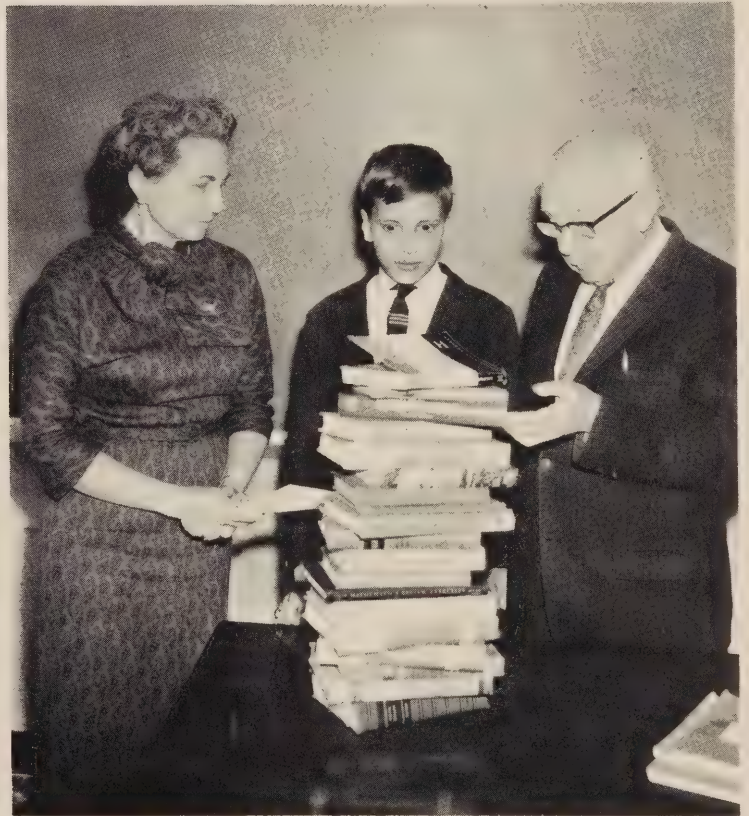

Here at Wardlaw, mathematics has always been a major study, from the primary grades continuing through the four years of high school. No matter what a student aspires to be and to do in this world, he needs a good solid background in mathematics. This subject is very necessary to such areas as the sciences, engineering, and the business world.

In our school, the different mathematics courses are geared to prepare us for the next steps of our education. Miss Marion Kilpatrick's experienced leadership helps students through the middle school, followed by Mr. James Hawley or Mrs. Gladys Kautrausky who prepare high school students for those exacting college courses ahead.

Our mathematics department is well-staffed and prepared to offer an adequate curriculum.

MUSIC

The first aim of Wardlaw's music courses is to foster the enjoyment of singing, by as early an introduction as possible.

Starting in the first grade and continuing through the eighth, students are taught sight reading, music appreciation, and fundamentals.

As each group progresses in ability, it has a better knowledge of singing. The boys are taught to the point where they can join the high school glee club.

The music department teaches indirectly by choosing songs of higher caliber in accordance with the students' ability. The boys are given a music education to further their knowledge and appreciation of the beauty and exactness of harmony.

ART

For two successive years, art has achieved new prominence at Wardlaw. An enlarged art room and additional studio supplies attracted interested students who have learned of the enjoyment offered by art. Although the upper school was not required to do so, many boys came to Mrs. Elizabeth Gosch's classes, where such media as oil painting and ceramics were introduced. The effectiveness of the art program is evidenced by the exhibits in the corridor.

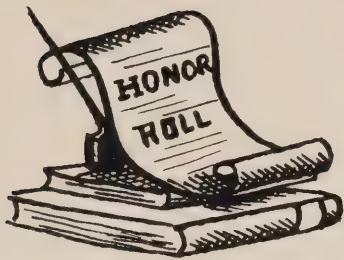

In the past, professional talent supplied the art features which have added so much to the yearbook. This year, however, Wardlaw students have created the art work.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

Continuing the tradition established by John Leal in 1882, public speaking is still emphasized as one of the most important phases of Wardlaw training. Everyone from the third grade up spends one period each week learning the art of thinking aloud in a well-organized manner.

Because of our growing population Mr. Harris has been joined this year by Mr. Schroff and Mr. Paoli in directing the upper school program. The English Department supervises public speaking in the middle and lower schools, with the individual teachers as the instructors.

The high point is reached each spring as every boy vies with his classmates to determine the leading speakers in each grade. A contest is then held in the evening and professional judges select the winners. The competition is keen and the margin between the winners is often very small. However, win or lose, the experience gained is invaluable and public speaking is one of the activities that we will remember most vividly in the years ahead.

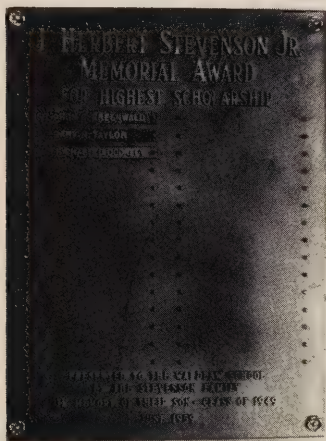

HONOR ROLLS

Of the many and varied rewards of scholastic industry and ambition, certainly one of the greatest and most sought after is the honor roll. The enviable status of an honor roll student is not easily attained; one must make every effort to couple a keen, receptive mind with a constantly eager and industrious attitude in order to keep up a consistent average of at least ninety percent for the first honor roll and eighty-five percent for the second honor roll.

However, despite the obstacles that must be overcome and the problems that must be solved, the honor roll is seldom out of reach of anyone who is willing to really put his mind to surmounting these difficulties to achieve a place among the scholars pictured here. This achievement is a prime goal of Wardlaw's scholastic program.

Improvement in Wardlaw's academic standards can be measured, in part, by the increasing number of those who have attained this high recognition.

GLEE CLUB

Three years ago, Mr. Arthur J. Schroff joined the faculty and reorganized the Junior and Senior Glee Clubs into today's fine organization.

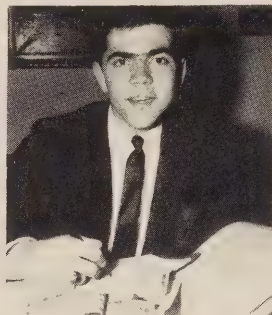

Besides the traditional Christmas and Commencement concerts, the Glee Club has had several opportunities to sing in the community. During the winter, the boys caroled at Teppers. Later in the year, they were invited to perform for service organizations in the Plainfield area. Bolstered by the members of the sophomore and junior classes, the Glee Club made considerable improvement in the execution of new and tuneful melodies.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Senior Student Council, consisting of eleven boys who meet every Tuesday, is the student-governing body of the school. Under the supervision of Mr. Prentice Horne, headmaster, these boys represent their classmates in discussing the various problems of student life at Wardlaw. Elections are held every year and council members are chosen from freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The council has operated efficiently in the past and should provide even better leadership in the future.

Journalism Class Gets Started

by David G. Walley '63

Through the combined efforts of Mrs. Jane Smith and Mr. Ralph C. Harris, a journalism class has been inaugurated at Wardlaw. Under the capable direction of Mrs. Smith, the members of the junior class who are working on either the Beacon or the Maroon and Gold staffs meet during the second period every Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday to discuss the art and technique of journalism.

The boys are very anxious to work hard and Mrs. Smith feels that she can mold them into a proficient staff. Most of the period is devoted to the correction and revision of articles submitted for future issues of the Beacon. In the remaining time, Mrs. Smith lectures on principles of writing. There is much headway being made in the journalism class because the boys are really taking an interest in newspaper work. Evidence of their collective labors is to be found in this and future issues of the Beacon.

The Beacon board congratulates these students on their fine work and hopes that they will continue to produce better articles for the school press.

ATTENTION ALL FISHERMEN
As the Rod and Reel Club begins its third year, a new feature, ice fishing, will be added to the regular excursions.

There will be a meeting each week and the veteran members of the club are looking forward to more active participation from the high school.

Fifth Graders Find Coins

Miss Helen Kershner's fifth grade recently discovered a "treasure" in their homeroom. A box of old coins came to light by Harry Gaynor's jarring the wall behind a bookcase. What mysteries might be disclosed by a thorough investigation? But since no clues were found, the class members tried to outdo one another in a composition contest.

Among the fifth grade stories submitted there is an account written by Brian Hogan. Presenting more fiction than fact, Brian writes: "One dark night many years ago some robbers came to a large house in Plainfield. The house is now the Wardlaw Country Day School.

The house was dark and no one was at home. They decided to stay overnight and leave early the next morning.

They put the money in small boxes and hid them in the wall. During the night they heard voices coming near them. They thought they should get out of the house fast. In the excitement they left one of the boxes.

Many years passed. One day a young student, Harry Gaynor, happened to hit the wall and out came the box with the coins of long ago.

Editor's note: These coins were not rare ones but, "linders keepers".

Miss Helen Kilpatrick Honored at Luncheon

by Robert A. McNamara '63

Miss Helen Kilpatrick, a former secretary at Wardlaw, was honored with a reception luncheon on Friday, October 6th. Miss Kilpatrick had been at Wardlaw for six years before she resigned in August. The reception, which was attended by the entire faculty, was held in the all purpose room. Miss Kilpatrick was presented with a traveling bag. She plans to rest for a while and then return to her work as a dietitian.

Council To Hold First Fall Dance

by Geoffrey R. Sadwith '63

The senior Student Council will sponsor its first informal dance Friday, November 3, from 8:30 to 12:00. The Del-Fi's a band received with enthusiasm last year, will provide the music.

This dance is free to all boys in the high school, with the hope of attracting larger participation in this and all school dances. Decorations will be handled by Andy Swain, Dave Sell, and committee. The Student Council anticipates full support and a successful evening.

HOLD THAT POSE!
Eight of the amateur "shutter bugs" of Wardlaw have recently formed a photography club. Under the guidance of Richard C. Metfield, Jr., an experienced camera fan, the group will learn about the medium of photography and will take pictures for the two school publications.

Kindergarten Wins Ice Cream

The lower school held a highly successful class meeting on Wednesday evening, October 4. There was a record-breaking attendance. Percentage-wise there were 62% of the parents there.

Refreshments were served by the Mothers' Association before the meeting was called to order. Much enthusiasm developed during the meeting as course subject matter was discussed by the parents and teachers.

In order to get the boys to urge their parents to attend, the school offered a prize to the class with the largest number present. With twenty parents representing thirteen students, the kindergarten succeeded in capturing the ice cream. The third grade ran a close second - but no ice cream.

THE BEACON

This year has been one of evaluation and change for the Wardlaw Beacon. The Beacon Board and the two faculty advisors are striving to find the best in quality and coverage for our school paper.

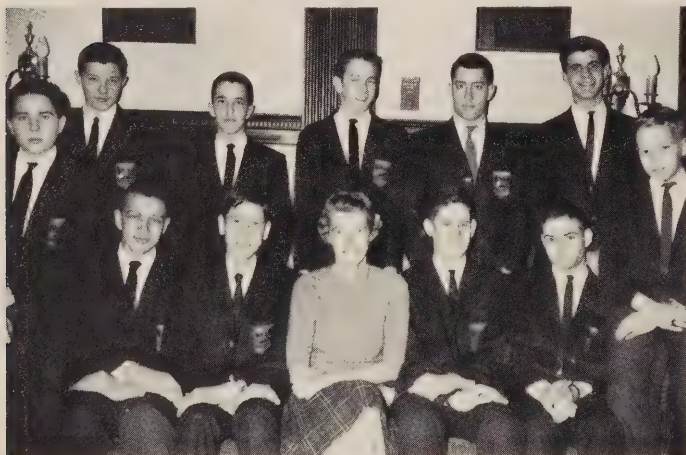

A journalism class has been organized to produce a constant flow of articles for the Beacon. From this group one or two members are selected to manage the paper for one edition. This experience will determine the choice of the most capable editor for the '62-63 Beacon.

The complicated task of originating, layout, proofreading and publishing is facilitated by the new room and equipment now provided for the Beacon use. Such aids as a light table, publications room, and publishing methods have greatly lightened the complex job of producing a school paper.

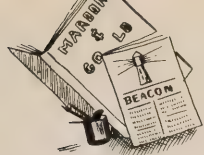

A photography club, which is associated with the Beacon and the Maroon and Gold, furnishes many of the high quality photos needed for these publications. The members of the club have the use of a professional camera and dark room facilities in the publications room.

The Beacon has an exchange system with other schools to receive their publications which suggest the new and the original. The Wardlaw Beacon serves as a representative to parents, friends, and students of our school, and it is up to us to produce the best coverage possible.

As a result of increased facilities, training, and interest, the newspaper should become a more noteworthy part of our elective activities.

This year's Maroon and Gold was produced quite differently from those that have preceded it. Instead of having a single editor, a board of five men was selected and trained in the specialized area of yearbook work. This board depended entirely upon another staff of boys, who composed the journalism class. These boys contributed the writing for this year's Maroon and Gold.

Many factors have contributed greatly to the improvement of our yearbook. A highly successful patron campaign, was capably managed by Bob Hellerson. When that work was completed, Bob turned coordinator and hustler to bring each section to completion. Another great help was the new Speed Graphic camera, which has greatly improved the quality of our photographs.

The fondest hope of this year's Maroon and Gold staff is that our yearbook will continue to be improved over our award-winning books of the past few years, and that each Maroon and Gold will be better than the last; not just this year, but every year.

SOCIAL

To this year's social program something new was added; all dances were paid for by an activity fee. The first event was an informal Halloween dance, which was well-attended. The traditional Christmas dance was semi-formal and also met with great success. The theme was "Christmas Around the World", and music was provided by the Esquires. A "Record-Hop" was held on the last day of the winter term and provided a fitting climax to the semester. We hope that the commencement dance will meet with as much success as last year's.

VARSITY SOCCER

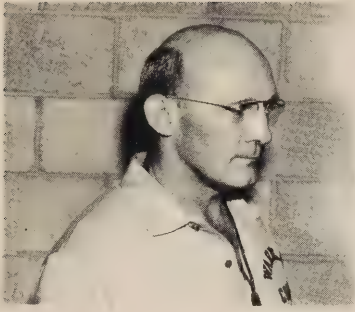

Last fall Coach Ralph Harris faced a major task of rebuilding a team, nearly depleted by departing seniors. Hard-driving juniors quickly filled the gap and the team was ready for attack.

After a brief practice period, the team journeyed to Pennington for its first game, which proved to be a close one as was the second one with Rutgers Prep. Our inexperience in key positions let both opponents eke out wins. The first win was over Morristown with Dave Sell scoring three goals. The next game was a nightmare in which an undefeated Pingry squad, composed of forty-four boys, rolled over us by a score of 8-0. This initial encounter with Pingry helped to compile Pingry's varsity 12-1-1 record. A somewhat wiser team after the Pingry game held Rutgers to a 2-2 tie, beating Morristown 3-0, and Englewood 1-0, tying St. Bernards 3-3, and defeating Englewood again with the help of Bob McNamara's three goals. The team then fell apart against Scotch Plains, losing 3-0.

Undaunted, the team came back with a spectacular game against Pingry. The squad worked well together and out-hustled Pingry during the entire game, but Pingry's greater skill and manpower eventually triumphed 3-0. The team deserves much credit for playing so well against a superior opponent. Finally the season ended with the Rams on the short end of a 2-1 Collegiate decision. Since only two regulars will be graduated, next year's team should improve the current 4-6-2 record.

Nice save, Andy.

Many are called

Mr. M. Gale Hoffman, coach

But few are chosen

The 1961 Varsity Cross-Country team finished the season with a 5-4 mark. Since Wardlaw has had a team for only three years this can be considered a respectable record.

Wardlaw lost its opening meet to Watchung Hills Regional but bounced back with wins against Montclair College High and Carteret. The latter victory was the team's best effort as the first five places were taken by Wardlaw harriers presenting the best possible score in cross-country. Walt Ritchie and Bob Smithers tied for first place at 14:03, while three others tied for second. Wardlaw lost its next two meets to B.M.I. and Peddie; however, Ritchie and Smithers took the first two places respectively against B.M.I. In the Peddie meet Ritchie and a Peddie boy cracked the old Plainfield Country Club record with a time of 13.33. Wardlaw then went to win three of their last four meets with superb efforts by Ritchie, Smithers, and Harrison. Wardlaw also competed with other small schools in a state meet in which they placed second. Smithers took fourth place, while Ritchie followed in fifth. The team as a whole ran extremely well. Because it is a relatively young squad, the team should prosper as they gain experience. Jack Whitney, Doug Hellerson, and Bill Philpot together with Ritchie and Smithers are boys to watch in the future. We will miss two valuable seniors, Harrison and Collins.

Here come two points for our side.

Varsity Basketball

The 1961-62 varsity basketball season proved to be one of Wardlaw's finest. The team, expertly coached by Mr. Michael Blazo, finished the season with an 11-5 record and played in the Independent School State Championships. The mainstays of the team included Graham Lang, the season's high scorer with 232 points in 16 games for a game average of 14.5, and George Stock who followed with 217 points in 15 games, also had a 14.5 average. Jim Collins rebounded well and scored 165 in 16 for a 10.3 average; and Bob McNamara had 145 in 15 games for a 9.7 game average. Bill Pratt, a fine rebounder ended with 90 points and a 5.6 average.

Let's take a closer look at the season. In our first game Jim Collins' 24 points led us over Carteret. Against Montclair Academy we rallied in the 4th quarter and won 49-45. We lost our next encounter but bounced back to defeat Rutgers Prep 61-57 after trailing by 19 points at the half, as Lang scored 30 points. We next lost to Croydon Hall but defeated Staten Island in a close game. McNamara's 21 points paved the way. We defeated our next two rivals but then lost to both Montclair College High and Montclair Academy.

A week later, we played our most exciting game, defeating Morristown 78-77 as Wardlaw overcame a 37-44 third period slump and scored 34 points in the last quarter. Stock scored 16 of his 23 points in the last period and Collins netted 22. We easily dumped St. Bernards again and defeated Englewood in the last minute behind Stock's rapid scoring. We ended our regular season by defeating Rutgers Prep 74-60 and won the right to compete in the state tournament.

On February 26 we traveled to Peddie for the first round of the championships and once again defeated Prep in a much closer game. Lang scored 27 points, mostly on long outside shots. Two days later we met Stevens Academy in the finals. Although we lost 69-47, we were "in the game" until the final quarter. Collins played his best rebounding game of the season and Bill Pratt excelled. Although outclassed, we fought all the way.

We will miss seniors Collins, Lang, and Sell but three of the starting five will return. We can look forward to another fine season next year.

1962 heralded the first Wardlaw swimming team. Coached by Mr. Jacques LeGrand, this team used the Plainfield Y.M.C.A. as its home territory and training grounds, although only one meet was held there this season.

The season lasted from January 10th to March 1st, with our team's winning two meets out of six during that time. Despite the record, however, the boys showed a good spirit and put all they had into the meets. As a result, Wardlaw set some records and produced some pretty good swimmers. Doug Hellerson, for example, won every event he entered.

With encouragement like this, Wardlaw can look forward to a still better swimming team next year.

For the first time in Wardlaw's history this winter there was a varsity squash team. Under the coaching of Mr. M. Gale Hoffman the inexperienced squad finished with a 1-4 record.

Bob Hellerson, playing number one, and the only member of the group who has had extensive experience, won three of his matches and led the way to the team's only victory against Brooklyn Poly Prep.

Using the Plainfield Country Club for their home courts the boys learned much about squash this year and several bright racquet prospects developed. Having improved greatly, the squad looks forward to a better season next year.

The 1962 wrestling team gave a good performance, even though its three win five loss record doesn't accurately reflect the score sheet. The team had only three returning lettermen, and Coach Harold Breene had only raw material with which to build his team.

The team had two outstanding wrestlers. Hunter O'Dell, who is captain-elect for 1963, fought to an undefeated season against some tough opponents. In the St. Bernards meet, he was the only Wardlaw matman to win his match. Wade Collier wasn't undefeated, but many times he battled and overcame men much heavier than he, because the team was missing a man in the "unlimited" class.

This year, for the first time, the wrestling team competed in the state meet at Peddie. The wrestlers all fought well considering the greater experience their opponents had. Wade Collier reached the semi-final matches, but was defeated in a well-contested battle.

Next year, the team should be stronger than ever, since it will lose only its captain, Andy Strait

Although this yearbook will have gone to press before the season begins, it is safe to say that Coach Blazo's baseball team is made up of good prospects for the coming campaign.

On this year's squad there are a number of juniors and sophomores. John Wait is a promising pitcher and Bill Storts looks good at shortstop. Bill Ainslie and Bill Pratt are other bright hopefuls. Other boys about whom we are optimistic are Ira Wiesenfeld, Steve Kline, Jack Whitney, Kem Anderson, Hunter O'Dell, and George Stock. Seniors who will give the team an added boost are Graham Lang, Jim Collins, and Captain Dave Sell. Our veteran pitcher is looking forward to a good year on the mound.

The team will have a busy schedule this year playing sixteen games. Opponents include St. Bernards, Rutgers Prep, Morristown, Englewood, Staten Island Academy, Montclair, Pingry, and Carteret. Newark Academy is the newest addition to the varsity roster.

Coach Blazo summed up the prospects for a good season by stating, "We have a lot of material in the developmental stage. Our senior loss has been great, but I think by mid-season, we will develop into a fine ball club."

EIGHTH

Last one back to school gets a cold shower

What do we see in the Eighth today?
Budding freshmen in vast array.

Journalists, origamists, and artists are some Numbering currently twenty-one.

First-string football, baseball, and more
And other athletes by the score.

But the first period "blues" will still prevail
When at the Algebra door we pale.

Factoring and dividing with X, Z, and Y
Put heads in a spin; we don't know why.

Neanderthal man and adjective clause—
Conjugation tricks with "sees" and "saws".

Of Earth Science and English we learn much lore;

None of our subjects is really a bore.

To make it through '62 we ween
Each one to be a freshman green.

Who'll be at the head and taste success?
We cannot tell—'tis anyone's guess.

GRADE

... and then the bell rang

Our seventh grade this year consists of twenty-one boys. We enjoy the seven teachers whom we meet during the course of our varied subject matter instruction. The coaches also try to help us improve our physical progress.

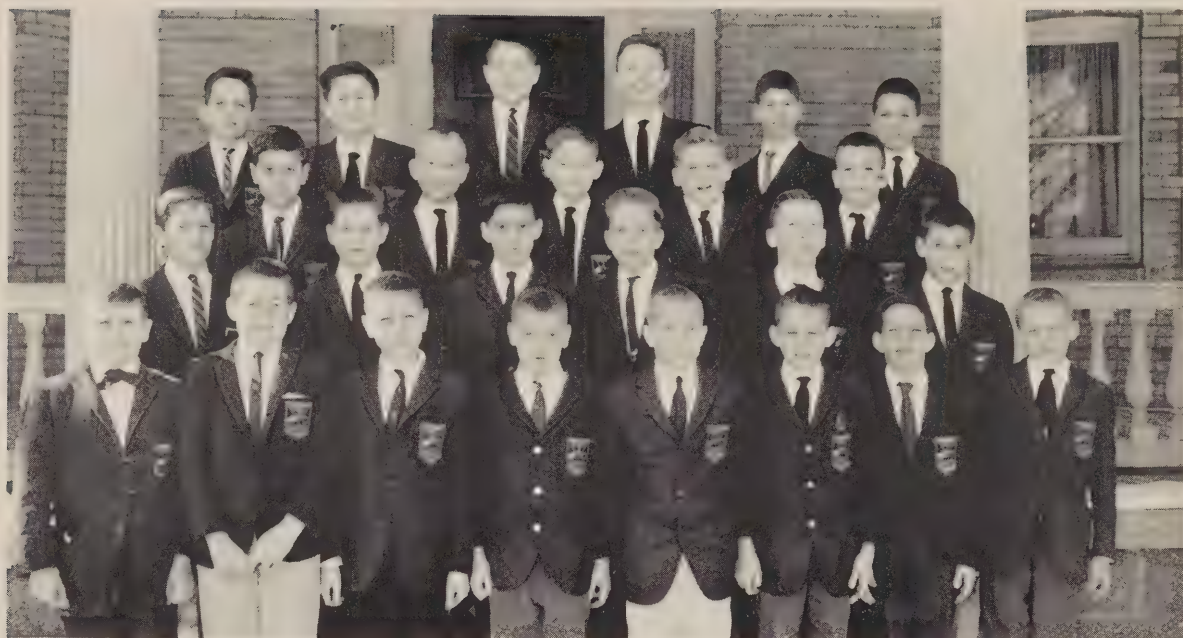

Our class is active in school activities, and many middle school organizations have seventh grade representation. Many of the boys have become members of student council and have earned honor roll recognition.

In the athletic program, the seventh grade has definitely made its mark. Many of our boys have earned letters or numerals. In every sport available to the middle school, there has been a good majority of seventh grade participants.

Although we have done exceptionally well this year, we must resolve to improve our record, for only one more year remains in our grammar school experience. Upon the foundation of these eight years we must build our high school life.

GRADE

I am the Sixth Grade. My growth has been astounding ever since nursery school in 1954. In my early training I concentrated on three R's and spelling, but now I am doing departmental work.

Although I have had growing pains, I am proud of some top ratings in the physical fitness program, a numeral in football, and a present winner of the Lum and Kilpatrick trophies.

Academically I have learned to see through arithmetic problems, enjoyed projects in English, enacted events in history, sung in the glee club, and made the honor roll. To further my mental training, I organized a chess club in which we have tournaments.

With continued hard work I hope to make a successful orbital flight into seventh grade in September.

By the sixth grade

IN APPRECIATION

As head of the Editorial Board, I find myself confronted with the task of expressing thanks to the many individuals and groups who have contributed to the production of this Maroon and Gold. This is more difficult than one might think, because a publication as complex as the Maroon and Gold enlists help not only from the entire school but also from many people in the surrounding communities.

Without question the person who is more responsible than any other single individual for the success of this publication is our advisor, Mr. Ralph C. Harris. It was through his efforts that our staff, in its many groups, was organized into a better functioning unit. For this and many other things he has contributed to a better Maroon and Gold, we thank him many times over.

Never to be forgotten is Mrs. Jane F. Smith, who with her journalism class deserves all of the credit for the literary pieces in the book. We are also indebted to her for numerous ideas for photographs.

The art class, under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth B. Gosch, I would like to thank for producing what I think is some of the best art work that has ever appeared in the Maroon and Gold. It should be noted that in many other editions the art was done by a professional. Therefore, it is even a greater achievement to have produced such fine art work for our yearbook.

I would personally like to thank Mr. Fred Olson of Bradbury, Sayles, O'Neill, Hurley, and Thompson, Inc. who not only has given us excellent, high-quality service, but who also was so friendly and helpful during the entire production of the yearbook.

It also gives me pleasure to thank Mr. Harold Breene and his athletic department for allowing interruption of schedules in order to take group photographs.

Perhaps one of the more important groups of people, who only too often go unthanked, are the people in the administrative office. Without their kind and willing assistance in many matters, this book would never have been published. We take this occasion to let our thanks be known.

The people who have made the publication of the Maroon and Gold financially possible are, of course, our advertisers and patrons. Their help is immeasurable.

Lastly, I would like to thank each member of the editorial staff — Hunter O'Dell and Addison Moore, whose tireless energy has made for better layout; Richard Henfield, whose superior ability with the camera has given us the best photographs ever to appear in a Maroon and Gold; and Graham Lang, whose endless job of getting advertisements was accomplished so well.

"There is only one thing which will really train the human mind, and that is the voluntary use of the mind by-man himself. You may aid him, you may guide him, you may suggest to him, and, above all you must inspire him; but the only thing worth having is that which he gets by his own exertions, and what he gets is proportionate to the efforts he puts into it." — Lowell
